BOHUNT WOKINGHAM WEEKLY BULLETIN

Welcome from Mr Woolley - Deputy Headteacher

Good afternoon parents and carers. I hope that you enjoyed a restful time as a family over the May half term break and that your children have settled comfortably back into their last half term of this academic year.

My name is Oliver Woolley and it gives me great pleasure to introduce myself as Bohunt Wokingham's first Deputy Headteacher. This is my first week as a member of the Bohunt community and I can honestly say I am already very proud to be part of this dedicated and hardworking team.

My main responsibility, as well as deputising in her absence, is to support Ms Comber in ensuring that the whole school community lives the enjoy respect achieve ethos that I see permeating every aspect of school life in the short time I have been working here.

As part of my role, I am working closely with Mr Stromdale to ensure your child's learning and teaching experience is of the highest quality, rooted in current evidence of what works and delivered by teaching staff who are highly engaged with their own development. I am a firm believer that knowledge is power, ignorance is not bliss and knowledge acquisition leads to greater skills development; as such, as long as all teachers have the highest expectations of what all of their students can know and do, creating game-changers will be a given.

There has been little rest for Year 11 this week as they enter the final stretch of their GCSE examinations, completing exams in Dance, English Language, Arabic, Maths and French. Year 11 have been making the most of the masterclasses their expert teachers have been delivering for them - success is in the air!

In assembly all students have been reminded of the principles and origins of Pride Month, and those pioneers of the cause who have championed acceptance and equality of the LGBTQ+ community. As such, our students were given the opportunity to critically reflect on our key value of respect. This morning Year 10 were very excited to have their attention turned toward their Year 11 Prom and the conditions they need to meet to ensure they secure their Prom passport.

Unparalleled opportunities continue apace, with our Year 7 students tearing up the waterways on their paddleboards on Monday and our Year 9 student completing their CNAT Hike on Wednesday. Our GCSE Dance students have been invited to attend Buckinghamshire New University's end-of-year dance performance, following their visit in January; today they will be observing a range of dance styles and pieces performed at university level.

Finally, it remains for me to wish you a fine weekend in the sunshine (hopefully) and I look forward to meeting as many of you as possible, face-to-face, in the very near future.
